GANG MEMBER SLAIN: SAID HE'D 'SNITCH' ON BANK THEFT

John (Honus) Rawie Found in Ditch in County by Farmer Who Heard Shots Saturday Night and Saw Auto Drive Away—Man Got Out of Jail Saturday.

TWO MEN WHO HELPED GET RELEASE SOUGHT

Former Convict Declared After Arrest Feb. 8 He Wouldn't Take Whole Blame for Bank Theft at Valmeyer, Ill., in 1920.

Detectives investigating the murder of John (Honus) Rawie, member of the "Cuckoo" gang, former convict and burglar, who, after being shot, was thrown into a ditch at the northeast corner of Laclede and Rock Hill roads, St. Louis County, say that he was killed because he had threatened to "snitch" on two men said to have been implicated with him in a bank robbery.

Search is being made for two men instrumental in obtaining Rawie's release from the St. Louis jail last Saturday afternoon.

Rawie's body was found at 5 a. m. yesterday, 17 hours after his release from jail, by August Doering, a farmer, in front of whose home the murder was committed.

Doering, testifying at a coroner's inquest at Kirkwood, said that he heard six shots at 11 p. m. Saturday night and that when he went to the front door he saw a large touring car, occupied by several men, being driven away in the direction of the Gravois road. He found the body nearby, and he was the first to discover the shooting.

Rawie was arrested Feb. 8 at fourteenth street and Lafayette avenue, a few days after he had been released from the penitentiary at Jefferson City, Mo., in connection with the robbery of the Farmers' State Bank at Valmeyer, Ill., which occurred Nov. 6, 1920, just two days before he was sent to the penitentiary on a burglary charge, and in which $2000 in Liberty Bonds and $100 in postage stamps were taken.

Quoted as saying he'd snitch, he told detectives, after his arrest, that he was in no mood to return to the penitentiary and that he was going to tell what he knew about the bank robbery. "I'm not going to take the rap for the whole job," the detective quoted him as saying. "I've had enough of the stir penitentiary and I'm going to snitch."

The bank robbery occurred in the night of early morning and it was known how many men were implicated. Rawie mentioned the names of two police characters, but did not say whether or not others were connected with the robbery. He indicated that he would tell the police, but was visited several times in jail by two men, whose names the police have, and he was seen in earnest conversation with them on each occasion. Last Friday he was taken from the jail by a Deputy United States Marshal, and was questioned by representatives of the Department of Justice at the Federal Building.

Auto Waited for Him at Jail. Shortly after noon Saturday he was released on a bond furnished by George Dominick of 1300 South Seventh street, a professional bondsman, and was seen getting into an automobile in which two men were waiting for him in front of the jail.

Stolen Bonds Recovered. On the night of Nov. 8, two days after the robbery, the St. Louis State Bank at Valmeyer, stealing $21 safety deposit boxes, Rawie was arrested at Ninth and Market streets. He was in an automobile with a boy and four girls. The boy surrendered to the police $1000 in Liberty Bonds and $100 in postage stamps. Rawie had dropped on the floor of the automobile. Later the police recovered an additional $1000 in Liberty Bonds at the boy's home. When Rawie was taken to the police station, the boy was asked to turn over Rawie when the burglary sentence was completed.

but through an oversight that was not done. The police believed he was still in prison, when Detective Sergeant Cookley accidentally met him on the street Feb. 8, two days after his release.

Letter in Pocket. A letter which Rawie had written to a friend on Hickory street, asking him to call at the jail, was found in Rawie's pocket. It was dated last Friday and Rawie evidently had had no opportunity to mail it. The friend, when questioned by the police, said that none of Rawie's relatives or friends had seen him after his release on bond.

Records at Police Headquarters show that Rawie had been arrested more than 40 times since 1914 in connection with investigations of gang murders and burglaries.

Mrs. Edith Carvell, 65 years old, a widow, of 2354 Albion place, died today at the city hospital of injuries suffered Thursday evening, when struck at Jefferson avenue and Albion place by an automobile driven by Edward J. McKenna of 1909 California avenue.

Physicians said Mrs. Carvell's death was apparently due to a laceration of the brain, but that an operation disclosed her skull was not fractured. She suffered a number of other injuries.

Mrs. Carvell was able to talk on only one day since the accident. She said then that she had not seen the machine and was certain the driver had not seen her.

ART COMMISSION GETS HAND IN REDECORATION

Its Advice Is Calculated to Preserve Stoddard Frescoes in City Hall Rotunda.

Art has had a tough time this season at the hands of city officials, considering the desecration of the famous Carl Wimar paintings in the dome of the courthouse, but things are going to be better when it comes to touching up the Frederick Lincoln Stoddard frescoes in the lunette which overhang the city hall rotunda.

The Municipal Art Commission, an advisory body, which didn't get a chance to give advice in the courthouse redecoration which resulted in the repainting of Wimar's works by Wilbur T. Trueblood, chairman, and Miss Anita Moore, secretary, today said it would submit them to the Board of Public Service tomorrow.

Parents Ask Miller to Confer With Them Tonight

Chairman of Committee of Five Parents to Meet Mr. Miller and Receive His Information and Be Empowered to Take Action for the Correction of Anything that the Information May Show to Exist.

Some suggested that a demand for a retraction should be placed in the resolution, but Judge Becker's idea, of following Miller's words as closely as possible, and meeting the conditions fixed by him, prevailed.

In his address from the platform, Judge Becker said that Miller's charges were prominently displayed in all the Chicago newspapers Saturday. He said that, when an investigation has been made, an attempt should be made to give its results as wide publicity as Miller's charges have had.

Principal Powell, in the argument, favored the form of Judge Becker's resolution. "Mr. Miller has insulted the city of St. Louis," he said, "he has insulted the Board of Education, the one body that should have heard his charges. But he has promised us an opportunity to hear the details of his charges, and we should take it."

"This is an old story," the principal continued. "For 10 years, insinuation, gossip and slander have been hurled at this institution. Now we are glad of a chance to meet it in the open."

Miller's Record Is Supported at Religious Workers' Meeting. A letter to Gov. Hyde, commending Victor J. Miller's past record as head of the Police Board, was prepared by a committee today, after a meeting of 60 religious workers, held in the headquarters of the Board of Religious Organizations in the Victoria Building.

The letter was not an official expression of the Board of Religious Organizations, but it was said that a meeting of the executive committee of that body would be called, to make such an expression.

"Whereas, it has been charged by Mr. Victor J. Miller, president of the Board of Police Commissioners, in a public meeting, that he has upon good authority, that there is an organization of girl students in one of our high schools founded upon the entrance requirement that each member must have had an intimate relationship with a boy; and that he knows that such an organization, with similar membership requirements, exists among the boy students at the same school; and

"Whereas, he stated to the public that he would gladly appear before the members of the Board of Education and give them the reasons for his statements; and

"Whereas, at the meeting of the Board of Education called for that purpose he failed to produce any specific proofs of alleged immorality on the part of the school named by him and at the school named by him and for which the school authorities had no responsibility; and

"Whereas, he further stated that he was willing to disclose all information to a representative body of parents of the Soldan High School for the purpose of pursuing an inquiry;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the members of the Board of Education and the members of the Board of Police Commissioners, in a public meeting, that he has upon good authority, that there is an organization of girl students in one of our high schools founded upon the entrance requirement that each member must have had an intimate relationship with a boy; and that he knows that such an organization, with similar membership requirements, exists among the boy students at the same school; and

WOMEN PREDOMINATE IN INCOME TAX CROWD

First Jam Is Noticed Today When Many Hasten to Declare Themselves.

The second-floor corridor of the Federal building was jammed today with the largest number of income tax payers which has been seen there since the income tax law has been in force. Women seemed to form more than one-half of the gathering, which at luncheon became a dense crowd, and remained so during the afternoon. The throng had two active points, the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, where returns must be sworn to, and the cashier's office, where a payment must be made.

Wednesday is the last day on which returns can be filed and payments made on the Federal tax without penalty for delinquency. There has been no noticeable crowd at the Collector's office until today.

The clerks are working at tables in the hallway, as well as inside the office railing.

Up to the close of business Saturday, about one-half of the 135,000 returns expected in this district had been filed. The district includes Eastern Missouri.

As has been previously announced, those who file returns must accompany them with a payment of at least 25 per cent of the entire amount of tax due. The penalty for failing to make a return and payment before the close of business Wednesday is an addition of 25 per cent to the tax, which becomes payable immediately in full, and an added accumulation of 1 per cent a month so long as payment is delayed.

Taxpayers have the privilege of mailing in their returns, sworn before a notary public, and accompanied by check, and some of the largest returns are received in this manner. The smaller taxpayers, on a rule, bring their returns in person, and require some help in filling out the blanks.

revelation of the moral conditions in public schools.

"We beg of you to withhold judgment against Mr. Miller until he and his friends may have an opportunity to investigate the situation in all its details."

Those signing the letter were Mrs. A. J. Schureman, Mrs. W. C. Ordlin, Mrs. L. G. Bantz, Mrs. R. A. Sanders, Mrs. A. W. Walls, Mrs. G. H. Green, Mrs. A. L. Meyer, Mrs. D. Groves, Mrs. L. L. Renfrow, Mrs. C. W. Gray, and Mrs. Oliver S. Jones.

CALLS FOR DECISION IN 5-YEAR WRESTLING BOUT

Mrs. George Baptiste Testifies to Her Husband's Various Holds at Divorce Trial.

Mrs. Nettie Baptiste of 5214 Waterman avenue, is asking that the Court of Domestic Relations award her a decision in a wrestling bout, in which, she declares, her husband, George Baptiste, formerly a middleweight wrestler of renown, made her an unwilling opponent during the last five years of their married life.

Baptiste is president of the Baptiste Tent and Awning Co. She testified today that in 1917 he took a throat and arm hold on her because she asked him to take her riding on Sunday morning in one of his three automobiles, and that on various other occasions he slammed her in a chair, dragged her about the garage, until in 1920 his similar humors became almost a daily occurrence.

"Aren't you a pretty good scuffer yourself?" Baptiste's attorney inquired.

"I don't scuffle," she replied. "Didn't you ever wallop him?" "Once when he was trying to stuff a soap sponge into my mouth," she replied. "On one occasion," she continued, he got an arm hold at my breakfast table, causing me to drop a cup."

She denied that, as the attorney suggested, she dropped the cup on her husband's head.

Mrs. Baptiste submitted also her husband's attendance record as she had recorded it.

1916—Stayed out until midnight each Saturday.

1917—Stayed out all night each Saturday.

1918-19—Out all Saturday night and all day Sunday.

1920—Out almost every night.

Mrs. Baptiste said that when she returned from shopping on a day in June, 1921, she found that her household goods and clothes had been removed. This caused her husband, she said, They were married in 1914.

MURDER COUNTS AFTER CUBAN EDITOR'S INQUIRY

Three Accused of Conspiracy to Commit Crime for Which
One Was Sentenced.

By the Associated Press.
HAVANA, March 12.—Evidence obtained by Sixto Lopez-Miranda, editor of La Discusion, culminated yesterday in the indictment of three men on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder—Victoriano Bengochea Serrano, a wealthy fishing fleet owner; Manuel Gonzales, also known as "the hunchback," and Julian Lantano, known otherwise as "little sweet potato." The three were held in jail for trial.

Bengochea and the two others are charged with having instigated the murder of Paol Gutierrez Mediavilla, a business rival of Bengochea,
in October, 1919. Felipe Ruiz Carba is serving a life sentence for the crime. The desire of Ruiz Carba for revenge on those alleged to have used him as a tool and failed to carry out promises to obtain his release, was the key that unlocked the combination of powerful political and business interests which Lopez-Miranda and relatives of the slain man alleged had blocked all attempts to fix the real responsibility for the killing of Gutierrez.

During the year he has been in prison, Ruiz Carba had lived in luxury on gifts of money from unidentified friends.

MAN IN BURNING HOUSE SHOOT AT POLICEMAN WHEN AROUSED

Sgt. Thomas Wheatley Has Narrow Escape When Mistaken for Burglar.

Sgt. Thomas Wheatley of the Mounted Police District was mistaken for a burglar and narrowly escaped being shot at 1 a. m. today while endeavoring to arouse the sleeping family of Tony Loduca, in Loduca's home at 5251 Wren avenue, which was a fire.

Sgt. Wheatley had run to the place following the sounding of an alarm. Loduca has a shoe repair shop on the first floor and sleeps in a rear room, while his wife and two children occupy two rooms above the shop. Wheatley had pounded with his face on a side door and failing to get a response, was attempting to force the door when four shots came through the door accompanied by maledictions in a foreign tongue from within.

The officer shouted that the place was a fire, and Loduca opened the door and apologized for shooting, explaining that he thought burglars were attempting to break in. Wheatley then reached Loduca's wife and two children and the fire was extinguished. It broke out at about 4:45
a. m. and was again extinguished, the loss being estimated at $2500 to building and contents.

TRADES UNIONISTS URGE LICENSING OF BEER AND WINE

Resolution at Meeting of Central Trades and Labor Union Seeks Action by Congress.

The Central Trades and Labor Union, representing approximately $8,000 trades unionists of St. Louis adopted a resolution yesterday, urging that Congress permit the manufacture of beer and wine. The Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor recently requested all citizens to join in a campaign with this objective.

The resolution called attention to what has previously been pointed out, namely that the permitted manufacture of beer and light wines will net the Government enough money annually to pay the proposed soldier bonus.

It was also stated in the resolution that the present enactment of the prohibition law leads only to general disregard and disrespect of all laws, and that the "bootlegger" continues the manufacture of illicit whiskey and other alcoholic concoctions from which the Government is unable to collect any taxes.

GOVERNOR HEARS COMPLAINT IN NIGHT AND DAY BANK CASE

Members of the Depositors' Committee of the defunct Night and Day Bank, who Saturday complained that the committee had not received assistance from J. G. Hughes, State Finance Commissioner, in its efforts to reorganize the institution, conferred with Gov. Hodge at the Planters Hotel today in an effort to induce him to exert pressure on Hughes to supply the committee with information as to the bank's condition.

After the conference they said the Governor had promised to talk with Hughes. The Governor said he would see Hughes tonight, but that he did not intend to interfere with Hughes in the handling of the bank.
"I have full confidence that Hughes will handle the situation in the manner he considers to be the best interests of the depositors," the Governor said. "And I have confidence in his judgment. I see no occasion for me to interfere, though I will discuss the committee's complaint with him."

National Bank Closed.
By the Associated Press.
COTTON PLANT, Ark., March 12.—
The First National Bank of Cotton Plant closed its doors this morning at the order of William R.
Young, Bank Examiner, who has been going over the books of the institution for the last two weeks. Inability to collect extensive notes was given as the cause for the bank's condition. H. C. Argo, president, and F. L. Maxwell, cashier, today said they believed it would be possible to straighten out the affairs of the bank and that its closing probably was only temporary.

HOMERIC FARE

The heroes of Homer were men covered with iron and brass, and their terrible blows dealt death and desolation;

Yet Athenaeus pictures them
reposing after their exploits and—O, happy simplicity—partaking of a dish of beans.

Evidently the heroes of Homer, like the patrons at

FIRST SKY SCRAPER FOR BERLIN

Twenty-Story Structure to Be Built After American Style.

BERLIN, March 11.—This city's first skyscraper, 20 stories high, is about to be erected, the building permit having been granted. The structure will stand on the Friedrichstrasse, near where that street crosses the Spree.

The land belonged to the city and was practically given to the construction company at the price of 2,000,000 marks for the city wishes to encourage the erection of skyscrapers, office buildings to relieve congestion. The tallest building in Berlin was originally five stories high, but the banks here have been spending many million marks in adding upper stories to the buildings they occupy. The new skyscraper will be the first modern office building in the American style.

LIQUOR TREATIES SAID TO HAVE BEEN PROPOSED BY HAINES

Prohibition Commissioner Haines today announced that he had proposed to the United States Senate a series of agreements with Great Britain and Cuba, it is said. By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 12.—Negotiations of liquor treaties with Great Britain and Cuba, as aids in putting an end to rum smuggling into this country was said last night, by high internal revenue officers, to have been advocated by Prohibition Commissioner Haines.
Prohibition officials also have under discussion a proposal for declaring rum-running vessels to be pirates through negotiation with foreign nations looking to the cancellation of the registry of such ships.
Many of the larger liquor ships carrying illicit cargoes of alcohol, it was said, anchor just outside the limit of customs jurisdiction, and send the cargo ashore in small boats.
The war on these craft is being successfully waged, officials asserted, but the cargo vessels are beyond the reach of the law. If they sailed without proper registry papers, they would be branded as pirates outside the law and outside the law of every navy in the world. At the State Department it was said that no proposals for negotiations of this sort are under consideration as yet.

(Copyright, 1932)
BERLIN, March 12.—A mother who has not gone through a formal marriage is now protected by a law just passed by the Reichstag. More, if an unmarried woman employed by the State has a child, it can no longer be held against her or prevent her promotion in the State's service.
Up to this time an unmarried mother usually has been scorned by her fellow employees, but the law now compels Mrs. Grundy to let her alone. The law was introduced by a Socialist member of the Reichstag, Frau Pfeuff.

News of the Business World

By Wire to the Post-Dispatch

BOSTON, March 11.—Business continues very spotty in New England. Manufacturers of various iron and steel products report a decided increase in their business as compared with last year. Manufacturers of hardware and tools and machine shop supplies are doing about 55 per cent more business than at the corresponding period of 1921. Paper mills and shoe factories continue to increase operations.

Lumber dealers and jobbers of building supplies report a gain in sales over last year. It is believed that next month will see a very marked increase in the amount of building going on in New England. Banking interests continue conservatively optimistic and look for steady betterment in business throughout the year with perhaps a boom in the fall.

RANGE BUSINESS IMPROVES.

FORT WORTH, Tex.—Buying and selling of cattle increased tremendously in volume in the last week throughout the Southwest. A better business spirit has developed in the range country in consequence. In South Texas one buyer alone was in the market for 100,000 head of cattle and in the Panhandle 30,000 steers were sold by ranchmen during the week. All these were sold to men who will move them to Western pastures for further fattening and final marketing. The stockmen, in addition to improved demand, are confronted with higher prices and a rising market. Wheat and corn prices are higher, as are those for hogs; and the agricultural situation has been made 100 per cent brighter by the heavy snowfall of last week, which was none the less beneficial because it came so late in the season. At some points the snow was three feet deep.

Wool prices have advanced for the Texas product. The wool grower is receiving 5 cents a pound more than he got for his clip in 1921.

Potatoes and cabbage were damaged by last week's blizzard. Cotton planters are expected to increase their acreage in Texas somewhat this season.

COAST SECURITY HALT. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—A sudden halt has taken place in the boom for investment securities. This may be continued on next page.

McInnis' Double in Ninth Inning Defeats Cardinals; Brownies Win From Mobile

Former Red Sox First Sacker Comes Through With Hit After North Purposely Passes Tris Speaker—Home Runs by Williams and Sisler Help Fohlman to Victory.

With three victories in four starts to their credit, the next exhibition game for St. Louis clubs will be played at Mobile, Ala., Wednesday, when the Browns meet Mobile for the third time. The next contest for the Cardinals will be played Friday against the St. Paul team, while next Saturday and Sunday, Branch Rickey's aggregation opposes the New York Yankees.

The first regular contest of the season resulted in two victories for the Browns over the Southern Leaguers, while the Cardinals broke even in a tie against the Cleveland Indians.

From a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
DALLAS, Tex., March 12.—For a short time yesterday it looked as though the Cardinals were going to repeat their victory of the day before over the Cleveland Indians, but baseball gods intervened and gave Tris Speaker an even break on the short series.

For five innings the Cardinals trailed, Cleveland having shovelled a run across in the second. Jamieson got on in the first on Hornsby's error, but Wamby was easy, and the fans gave Goodwin a big hand when he irrigated the great Speaker into going after a third strike. McInnis deftly in the third, and he also issued a walk. Pruet fanned one batter, giving him four strikeouts in the four innings he has worked in two days.

Signs Him, Bob.
A New York woman testifies that her third spouse, a 30-year-old veteran, hurried to her with speed and accuracy of aim. She said she was married to him in 1910, and he was a member of the Tulsa club and previous to that time was a student at Missouri University.

Signs Him, Bob.
Up to the seventh when Williams made his homer the Browns could not touch Lefty Sigmund. Kenneth Williams crashed a double to the right field fence starting the second inning, but he was out when Billings walked into a trap. Sigmund prevented the Browns from hitting in the second, and he was out when Billings walked into a trap.

Signs Him, Bob.
The troubles of Bailey began when Wamby hit to left, and suffered. Speaker was out on a close play. Bailey was out on a close play. Bailey was out on a close play.

Signs Him, Bob.
Fohlman is expected to join the club in Chicago today, thus filling the roster of the Cardinals of 1932. Jack doesn't need much work to get in condition. He has proved that in other years. The next exhibition game called for the Cardinals are with St. Paul at Rogers, La., next Friday, and with the more or less famous Yankees at New Orleans next Saturday and Sunday.

The St. Leos, champions of Fairground No. 1, gained first blood in the Municipal Soccer League title series, defeating the Henses of Sherman Park, 2-1, in the first game of three to decide the championship at Fairground No. 2 yesterday. A better balanced team, one that had no weakness, brought victory to the Leos. Back and Mitchell, forwards, were the best bets for the Henses. However, they were effectively covered by the Leo backs.

The Henses were first to score. Rooney hanging one into the net following a corner kick after eight minutes of play. A bit of luck was connected to the point tallied by the Leos, which came 19 minutes later.

During a general mixup in front of the Hense upright, three players went down in a heap, with Fullback Phelan's arm going on top of the ball. Referee Dick Wall called the penalty, despite the fact that it was an unavoidable foul. Drew was selected to make the kick, and he sent it into the net.

Drew Scores Winning Goal.
The second and what proved the winning goal for the Leos came shortly before the first half ended. Following a mixup, the Leos were awarded a corner kick. When the ball was centered, Drew headed it into the net.

While play was hard during the closing period, neither side was able to score. The Leos spent most of their time on the defensive.

Yesterday's lineup:
St. Leos: Goal, T. Jones; Def., J. Smith, J. Brown, J. White, J. Black; For., J. Green, J. Grey, J. Gold, J. Silver, J. Copper, J. Iron, J. Lead, J. Zinc, J. Tin, J. Nickel, J. Cad, J. Platinum, J. BANKER RETURNS, DECLARING INNOCENCE TO STRICKEN MOTHER.
Missouri Man May Not Be Able to Explain $50,000 Bond Deal Because of Own Illness.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
DEARBORN, Mo., March 13.—William P. Harrington, former vice president of the Dearborn Bank, which was closed Thursday by Assistant State Bank Examiner William E. West after Harrington had disappeared, returned home here yesterday and collapsed at his aged mother's bedside.
Mrs. Harrington was stricken with paralysis Saturday night, her seventy-sixth birthday anniversary. She regained consciousness a few minutes before her son's arrival. Although her speech was impaired, she managed to mumble: "Has Bill come yet?" A moment later the man, accompanied by his brother, Connelly, Harrington of Siloam Springs, Ark., walked into the room. "I knew you would come back and tell me that it was all a mistake and that you had nothing to do with the missing bonds," she sobbed.
"You're right, mother, you reared an honest son," he declared as he fell at the bedside.
Her son was carried to his bed. He became ill on the train during the night. The attending physician has refused to admit all visitors and is not certain that Harrington will be able to go before the meeting of the bank's stockholders today to tell what he knows of the loss of $50,000 worth of Government bonds deposited for safekeeping and then sold to maintain a legal reserve.

The Weak Spot in your Character

A wave of relief swept through Latimer. The woman was too weak to FIGHT him for the bread!

"THE test was by hunger," said Slake. "Ten days in adjoining rooms—a glass partition between so that they could see but not encourage each other. On the tenth day the glass partition was removed and one piece of bread thrown in to them, as meat is thrown to starving animals caged together—you know the rest. It was difficult for the executioner to separate them—they had torn and entwined their way into such a deadly knot in their death grapple for that one small piece of bread—and you say that couldn't happen now! Would you make the test?"—Would YOU? And would you stand it better than Latimer did?

7 AMERICANS ROW
750 MILES TO RESCUE

Consular Report Tells Gripping Story of Adventures of Stranded Crew.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, March 13.—Reports of American consular offices, as a rule, are not conspicuous for their human interest. A decided exception is found in a recent dispatch from Consul Wilbur at Wellington, New Zealand, which tells in a gripping manner the adventures of the crew of the American schooner Columbia River, which was wrecked off Sunday Island while en route from Auckland to Portland, Ore.

According to the stories told by survivors of the Columbia River to Consul Wilbur, all went well until just before dawn on the third day out of Auckland, when the seaman on watch suddenly yelled: "Island close to, on the beam!" "The startled captain," says the Consul's report, "leaped from his berth and ran to the wheel, but too late to save the ship. In fact, so near was the beach that even before the anchor could be let go, the schooner heeled up. Shaken but safe, the officers and crew dropped over the bows and down on the beach, to wander for days over the barren rock. Empty of all life it was save for a few sad, enervated goats, too blue from their unhappy lot to even bleat a welcome to the shipwrecked Americans.

Ship Calls Once a Year.
"A ship calls once a year at Sunday Island, the captain knew, but he did not know the time of year. Suva, in the Fiji, 750 miles away, the nearest civilization! On the wreck of the schooner food for a month—what to do?

"Like nearly all American crews in time of stress, they talked it over—everybody, from the captain to the cook. And for sheer daring and pluck the decision of six sailors to take an open lifeboat and strike across the stormy seas for Suva—750 miles away—has few parallels among American adventures."

A lifeboat was equipped with food, kerosene, distress signals, anchors, an oil stove and an extra mast and sails. Then the little 22 1/2-footer set out boldly with its crew of six and the captain, leaving six men to wait on the barren land and pray for redemption.

Suva Reached After 14 Days.
All kinds of weather were encountered. Once for two days the lifeboat was becalmed. Again the crew, having rowed 25 miles in the teeth of a gale, was driven back 10 miles. When the sun shone it was pitiless, while at night the cold was intense. No sail was sighted. After 14 perilous days of struggle the adventurers reached Suva. The first vessel encountered there was H. M. S. Chatham. The seven men were so stiff and sore from their long battle at sea that every one of them fell to the deck of the Chatham as they were helped over the side. They were shown every hospitality and the following day the Chatham sailed for Sunday Island to rescue the others. The captain and his six companions embarked on the steamer, Niagara for Auckland.

When the Chatham arrived at the barren island her commander found that the six Americans left there had rigged up the dinghy with a mast and sail, preparatory to following their companions to sea.

Should Governor's Veto Power Be Usurped? Is Advanced as a Constitutional Question

Initiative and Referendum Quoted as Giving Power to Small Groups to Suspend Operation of Practically Any Law That Is Passed.

This is the third article in a series that Assistant Attorney-General Otis has written expressly for the Post-Dispatch on defects in the present Missouri Constitution which he holds should be cured or eliminated from the new organic law that is to be framed by the convention that will meet in May and the delegates for which were chosen at a special election last January.

By MERRILL E. OTIS,

Assistant Attorney-General of Missouri.

Since the foundation of our state government, the veto power has been a prerogative of the Governor; that is, he has had the constitutional right to disapprove an act of the Legislature. An act so disapproved does not become a law, unless passed over the Governor's veto by a two-thirds majority of both houses. In the exercise of this power the chief executive is an essential part of the legislative machinery of the State. He acts as the representative of the whole people. Generally speaking, the power has been wisely exercised and it is doubtful if there has ever been as much as a suggestion that this power of the chief executive should be lessened or removed.

On the other hand, a suggestion that this power or a modified form thereof should be conferred upon some other official, even though elected by the people, or that it should be conferred upon some nonofficial group of persons, would be justly regarded as revolutionary in the extreme and violative of fundamental principles. However, that is precisely what was done in 1908 when the Initiative and Referendum amendment to the Constitution was adopted.

The Initiative and Referendum gives a qualified veto power to any individual or small group of individuals who see fit and are willing to put forth the effort required to exercise it. It does this because it gives such person or group of persons the power to suspend for nearly two years the operation of practically any law upon obtaining the signatures of 5 per cent of the voters in two-thirds of the congressional districts of the State. Experience has shown that any small group can by this method suspend the operation of any law, although that law may represent the will and the desires of more than 95 per cent of the people of the State.

In the convention of 1922, the Initiative and Referendum will be one of the subjects around which there will be heated debate and controversy. One group of delegates will favor its elimination, root and branch, from our governmental system. A second will favor its retention in exactly the present form, making the argument that it is a comparatively recent expression of the sovereign will. This argument will be countered with the fact that when the amendment was adopted in 1908 it received the affirmative support of only 177,615 persons, out of a total voting strength of more than 420,000, in a population exceeding 1,000,000 people. A third group, adhering to the principle of the present law, will propose an increase in the percentage of petitioners required to make its use.

Fourth Group in Field.

Still a fourth group will advocate the retention of the Initiative and Referendum without increase in the number of petitioners required, but minus the power now lodged in a trifling minority of citizens to suspend or veto for a two-year period a law duly and regularly enacted by the representatives of the majority. Under the provision submitted by this group, every law which has passed the two houses and received the approval of the Governor will be effective until it has been disapproved by a two-thirds majority of both houses.

GROUND BROKEN FOR $1,000,000 SISTERS OF ST. MARY HOSPITAL

Construction Work to Be Started at Once at Clayton Road and Bellevue Avenue.

Ground was broken at 9 o'clock this morning for the million-dollar hospital to be erected by the Sisters of St. Mary, at Clayton road and Bellevue avenue, Richmond Heights. The site, comprising 17 acres, cost $114,000.

Work will be started at once on the building, which is designed to accommodate 200 patients. The main building will be seven stories high and have a frontage of 290 feet. Two wings, of six stories each, will extend from the main structure. In the rear of the hospital will be a two-story power house and laundry. Brick and cut stone will be used in the building and modern equipment will be put in.

The Sisters of St. Mary conduct St. Mary's Infirmary, at 1226 Papin street, and St. Mary's Dispensary, at 1226 Papin street.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES ARE ORDERED TO SELL STOCK

New York State Officer Declares It Is Last That Will Be Issued to Those Affected.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—Life insurance companies must dispose of their stock holdings, Superintendent of Insurance Francis R. Stoddard Jr. says in his annual report made public last night. The companies will have until 1926 to sell their stock. Stoddard points out that in 1904 the same companies were given five years to dispose of the stock, but each year when the time limit expired the Legislature extended the period for another five years.

Further extension of time will not be given, says the report. "Unless the companies concerned can show that they have made an honest effort to carry out the intent of the Legislature."

GENERAL EMPLOYMENT INCREASE REPORTED IN NEW YORK STATE

Three Per Cent Factory Increase Said to Be Second Largest Gain Since Depression Began.

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—Increases in employment in the manufacturing industries in New York State are reported in an analysis of employers' reports issued last night by Henry D. Sayer, State Industrial Commissioner. A three per cent increase in factory employment, the second largest gain since "the beginning of the depression," is featured in the report.

"Improved business conditions and seasonal demands were the factors causing the gain in employment," said the report. The clothing industries reported the largest increase of any of the chief industries groups. Food products and tobacco groups also showed a gain.

TO IMPROVE LAND IN MEXICO

BONUS BILL AS DRAWN DANGEROUS AND UNWISE, SECRETARY MELLON ASSERTS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—The new soldiers' bonus bill as drawn by House Republicans is attacked by Secretary Mellon as involving "a dangerous abuse of Government credit," in a letter to Chairman Fordney of the House Ways and Means Committee made public last night by the Treasury. Replying to a request for the Treasury's comment on the bill, the Secretary criticized the features of the proposed measure providing for loans by banks upon adjusted service certificates as indirect and "forced" borrowing by the Government.

He suggested that the "direct and regular way" to provide for a paid-up endowment, insurance feature would be to authorize insurance certificates with provision for direct loans to be financed by the Government. Mellon contended that "it is both dangerous and unwise" to attempt to avoid the cost of the bonus for the time being.

"There is no way," he said, "by which the American taxpayer can avoid the burden, and if a bonus is to be imposed it is far better for all concerned that it be placed upon a direct and definite basis and paid for each year out of current revenues. To do this at this time will necessarily mean the imposition of additional taxes for the purpose."

Estimate of Cost Under Bill.

The Secretary estimated the cost of the bonus under the bill, considering that half of the veterans will borrow on their certificates from the banks and default on their loans, in view of the attractive provisions for cash redemption in case of default. It appears from these tables that on the basis assumed by the actuary the total direct cost to the Government in the fiscal year 1923 would be $289,954,000; in the fiscal year 1924, $216,440,000; in the fiscal year 1925, $128,613,000; and in the fiscal year 1926, for the most part by Oct. 15, 1925, when the adjusted certificates issued as security for bank loans would have to be redeemed, $615,822,000. This would mean total payments within about three half years of over $1,200,000,000.

These estimates take no account of amortization or other reserves against certificates to remain outstanding after the fiscal year 1926, which would add at least $400,000,000 a year to the current charges, or of possible additional costs under the land settlement plan if the colonization projects therein authorized should be carried through. It is estimated that about $100,000,000 per annum would be required after 1923 if these reclamation projects should be pressed.

"If all the veterans should choose the certificate plan the total face amount of the certificates would amount to over $4,500,000,000, distributed over 20 years, and if all the veterans should choose the farm and home aid plan the total cost would amount to $2,095,000,000 within the next two or three years."

"Apart from the direct cost of the bill a most serious feature is the provision for bank loans upon adjusted service certificates during the period between its passage and Sept. 30, 1925. The effect of this provision is to transfer the cost of policy loans from the Government to the banks, and to place in the hands of the banks the certificates which are to obtain loans from them. A mass of unliquidated non-negotiable paper, upon which the banks will be unable to realize until 1925. The result would be frozen bank loans and inflation of currency and credit."

To the extent that the banks are obliged to make loans on adjusted service certificates, their ability to take care of the demands of business and industry will be correspondingly reduced, and even though the paper accrued by the certificates may not be eligible for redemption at the Federal Reserve Banks, the indirect result is certain to be increased borrowings by member banks from the Federal Reserve Banks.

Serious Aspect to Treasury.

"From the point of view of the Treasury, the most serious aspect of these loans on adjusted service certificates is the fact that the loans would be floated at the banks on the credit of the United States. The plan, in substance, therefore, involves a dangerous abuse of the Government's credit, for it contemplates the issue of a vast amount of Government obligations, which are non-negotiable and have no present realizable value unless pledged with banks, in which event the obligations become in effect two or three year notes, which the Government would be obliged to pay off in 1925 in default of the veterans."

"This practically means that cash payments on adjusted service certificates would be financed for the next three years through a forced loan from the banks. From the point of view of the banking system and the general financial situation, it would be far better if a bonus is to be financed by borrowing, for the Government to resort to direct borrowing and to provide direct policy loans

LEADER'S NEWSPAPER WRITINGS SEIZED

Articles for Young India Said to Form Basis of Charge Against Him—Banker Also Arrested.

By the Associated Press.

AHMEDABAD, British India, March 12.—The arrest Friday of Mohandas K. Gandhi, the leader of the non-co-operationists, was effected by Police Superintendent Halley, who previously had taken into custody a leading Nationalist named Shankerlal, a banker, near the Satyagraha ashram, which is Gandhi's religious and political institute situated a few miles from Ahmedabad.

Halley took the banker to the institute, the inmates of which were in bed. Later, however, they arose and paraded before Gandhi's residence and prayed and sang Gandhi's favorite hymn. Then Gandhi, with his wife and the banker, was taken by automobile to a neighboring jail.

"Work hard, and tire not," were Gandhi's parting words to his followers before being taken away. He exhorted all those who loved India to maintain perfect peace throughout the country.

At midnight Supt. Halley searched the premises of the newspaper Navajivan and collected some of Gandhi's original contributions to Young India in 1921-22, which, it is believed, form the basis of the charge against him.

Both Say They Will Plead Guilty at Proper Time.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, March 12.—Mohandas K. Gandhi and Shankerlal, a banker, were arraigned before a Magistrate at Ahmedabad Saturday charged with being connected with articles written by Gandhi and published in Young India, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Bombay. The prosecution described these letters as having caused dissatisfaction against the Government.

Both the accused men said they would plead guilty at the proper time but that they would decline to cross examine witnesses or to open their defense. They were committed for trial, which is expected to begin promptly and to conclude within a fortnight.

Lord Curzon, the Secretary for Foreign Affairs, was unaware that a statement issued at the Foreign Office today on behalf of Lord Curzon, who is ill with neuritis at his country home.

Lord Curzon was not notified until it was too late to prevent publication, the statement added.

Earl of Reading, Viceroy, Deplores Loss of Montagu.

By the Associated Press.

AGRA, India, March 12.—Replying to an address of welcome on his arrival here Saturday, the Earl of Reading, Viceroy of India, referred to the deep sense of his personal loss through the resignation of Edwin S. Montagu as Secretary for India. The resignation had completely surprised him. The Viceroy continued: "What ever the criticisms that had passed here or in England, Montagu's devotion to India's cause could not be doubted. During his term in the viceroyalty, the Viceroy said, he had been in constant and intimate connection with Montagu and rumors of differences between them and between the Home Government and the Indian Government regarding the policy to be pursued concerning non-cooperation and the leaders of the non-co-operation movement were absolutely without foundation. The Imperial Government fully approved of the policy of the Government in India, and there was no foundation whatever for the suggestion that the Government in India had been hampered in this respect by the Home Government."

20 Indian Legislators Protest in Case of Montagu's Resignation.

By the Associated Press.

DELHI, March 12.—Twenty Mohammedan members of the Indian Legislature now here have sent to Prime Minister Lloyd George an emphatic protest against the British Government's deplorable action in connection with the resignation of Secretary for India Montagu. They express appreciation of the efforts by Montagu and the Indian Government on behalf of the Khalifat, and assert that the Secretary was sacrificed in the anti-Khalifat cause. The legislators' protest also declares that the Indian Government's recent representation, publication of which brought about the virtual dismissal of Secretary Montagu, contains the minimum Muslim demands.

REPUBLICANS TO "STAND PAT" ON THE BONUS BILL

Committee Members De- termined to Report Com- promise Measure in Spite of Objections by Mellon.

HAWES ATTACKS BILL AS POLITICAL "BUNK"

St. Louis Congressman and Legion Member Says It Proposes to Sell Soldier Gold Brick for His Vote.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee decided at a conference today to "stand pat" on their determination to report the compromise soldiers' bonus bill, despite objections to its provisions by Secretary Mellon and Comptroller of the Currency Cragg.

The full Ways and Means Committee was to have met today to take final action on the bill, but the meeting was postponed until tomorrow. Republican members, however, met and discussed the letter of Secretary Mellon to Chairman Fordney, in which the treasury head denounced the bill on the ground that it would involve "a dangerous abuse of Government credit."

After the conference the Republicans said the bill would be reported tomorrow to the House with only slight modifications.

Hawes Attacks Bonus Bill as Piece of Political "Bunk."

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—Representative Harry E. Hawes of St. Louis, who is a member of the American Legion, issued a statement today attacking the pending bonus bill as a piece of political "bunk." He is the first Missouri representative to take a stand against the measure. The statement follows:

"The measure now under consideration proposes to sell the soldier a 'gold brick' to secure his vote. It proposes to soothe the alarm of the overburdened taxpayer and control his vote. It is a 'get-rich-quick' program which, if presented by a private citizen, would be outlawed by the 'blue sky' law prohibition of every State in the Union."

"It will be presented under a rule which will not permit debate or amendment. The rule has one advantage: It will prevent a deluge of 'sob stuff' speeches which would fill the red-blooded soldier with disgust."

"Two Understandable Motives."

"It has but two understandable motives—to save a vote or gain one. It is in reckless disregard of the President's advice, in defiance of the objections of the Secretary of the Treasury, and without respect for the warning of the Comptroller of the Currency. The soldier, when he understands, will condemn, and his anger will increase as his perplexities and annoyances multiply. The citizen whom it attempts to delude will secure the truth from a tax collector and add his indignation to that of the soldier. When the American Legion asked for adjusted compensation and I left to Congress the final selection of a plan, it did not follow that any and every plan would receive its endorsement. As a member of the American Legion, I am not prepared to support any kind of bill which nine members of Congress may write."

"Sure Legion Would Oppose It."

"If the legion camps will secure a copy of the pending measure, read it and study it, I assure they will oppose it. They have not had an opportunity to do this and until they do, I cannot understand how anyone can claim the legion's endorsement. There are certain forms of raising money of which the legion would not approve and there are certain forms of payment of which it could not approve. When the various camps of the legion actually have an opportunity to read and study this bill, it is my opinion they will not commend it."

"Our nation is in the midst of not only adversity, but, worse still, uncertainty. There has been no decision as to the future source of revenue, who will pay or how much can be procured, and the manner of the proposed payment is complicated and unsatisfactory. It was my hope that the committee would have presented a measure which would have met with my approval or permitted discussion and amendment which would express the majority sentiment."

"Overlooks Common Sense."

"There is no living man who can tell today what our income will be in 1923, nor can any man tell, until Congress adjourns, the amount of our national obligations. The tired nerves of the members of the committee must have broken under strain of guessing and produced an imagination which caused them to believe that both the soldier and the taxpayer were lacking in that first quality of citizenship—common sense."

"The head of the American Legion has stated the bonus legislation now before Congress was created by and is the child of Congress. It is an unfortunate child. Its father was haste, its mother was fright and its name is 'bunk.'"

YOU TAKE COLD EASIEST WHEN YOU ARE TIRED

Medical experts agree that colds can be passed from one person to another, but they say that in order to "catch cold" your vitality must be lowered, you must be overworked, or weakened, and run down and your power of resistance below normal. You can keep free from colds by keeping your strength up, and by taking John's Medicine for this purpose. John's Medicine is known. It will enable you to throw off a cold and rebuild your health and strength because it is made of pure food elements which strengthen and build up new resisting power. Father John's Medicine has had over sixty-five years of success for colds, coughs and body building.

7 KILLED WHEN COACH FALLS FROM TRESTLE

16 Others Injured When Car
Drops 50 Feet Into Camp
Creek Near Fitzgerald, Ga.

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., March 11.—Sixteen persons injured in the derailment and destruction of an Atlanta-Birmingham train en route to Fitzgerald at Camp Creek, early Sunday, were said today to be out of danger. Seven persons were killed.

The coach was sent crashing from a trestle into the shallow creek, 50 feet below, all of the killed meeting instant death. A broken wheel caused the wreck, according to a statement issued by R. L. Buss, receiver of the road. The train was traveling at a speed of 30 miles an hour at the time the coach started lurching along the track.

Thirty Passengers in Coach.
Thirty persons were in the coach, the last of the train, when one of the wheels burst. The trestle was reached and almost crossed, when the car suddenly turned over, tearing away from the one ahead as it fell into the shallow creek.

The following list of dead was issued by officers of the railroad: C. T. Elmore, cashier, local station A. R. & A. R. Co.; W. E. McIntosh, Imperial Hotel, New York City; E. C. Driver, Roanoke, Ala.; R. W. Lanier, operator, Senola, Ga.; Mrs. I. H. Etheridge, Atlanta, Ga.; W. M. Brooks, Western Union Telegraph Co., Manchester, Ga.

A description of the wreck was given by H. F. Hertz, who was seated in the front of the car and escaped without injury.

An irregular motion of the car just before the trestle was reached was the first indication that something was wrong, he said.

Our Flippers Into Space.
"About five seconds later," he continued, "we suddenly plunged backwards into space. A crash followed and there were screams from all portions of the car. Those of us who occupied the front section looked for an avenue to escape. One was found through the front door. I managed to assist the three women who were with me through the opening and then returned to help the others. One young man, apparently crushed, was the first person I found. He refused to let me help him, but urged me to assist the women and children. He sat there, calmly smoking a cigarette, as if nothing out of the ordinary had occurred. I learned later on that this young man was Willard Cope, a newspaper man.

"Several women were seriously injured, but without exception they inspired members of the rescue party to pass them by and help others in worse condition."

RECIPROCAL AGREEMENT EFFECTED BY AUTO CLUBS

Missouri Auto Club and St. Clair County (Ill.) Organization Arrange for Emergency Service.
The Automobile Club of Missouri has effected a reciprocal agreement with the St. Clair County (Ill.) Automobile Club whereby the same road emergency service accorded members of the Missouri club all over the State will be extended into the county across the river. Thus, a member of the Missouri club whose car breaks down in St. Clair County, either will be started on the road or towed to the nearest official garage without cost.
Because the Missouri organization is the larger of the two, with a wider range of service to its membership, it has heretofore kept out of St. Clair County. It was at the invitation of the Illinois organization that the pact was made.
The arrangement is another step in the gradual expansion of the Automobile Club of Missouri. Reciprocal service has been decided upon along the main highways to Chicago, Ill., Detroit, Mich., and into Ohio by agreement with clubs in those terriories. Negotiations are under way to extend the emergency road service to the Pacific by co-operation with the Denver and Southern California clubs and to Florida with the assistance of southern motor organizations.

Armstrong's Linoleum

for Every Floor in the House

Bank president and janitor
both like this floor

A FLOOR can be liked or it can be disliked.
Here is a floor in the Home Savings Bank of Boston that is hard to find fault with.
The bank officers like it because it is quiet and rich-looking. The bank clerks like it because it is restful to the feet and springy to the tread. The janitor likes it because it is a remarkably easy floor to clean—waterproof, and without bulges or unsightly seams. Even grease, if there were any, would wash right off.
Since a floor like this is not expensive to install, and is permanent when properly laid, it satisfies everybody.
The bank floor is Armstrong's Linoleum.
Floors of Armstrong's Linoleum have about all the qualities a good floor should have.
If you have anything to do with the floors of any building, shop or public institution, consult your architect, contractor or any good linoleum merchant about Armstrong's Linoleum. We gladly furnish data and specifications for laying. All Armstrong's Linoleum is guaranteed to give satisfaction.

PRICES IRREGULAR ON PROFIT-TAKING LATE MARKET

Substantial Gains Among Industrials Early - Foreign Exchange Rates React Sharply - Time Money Slightly Easier.

By Special Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 13.—The Evening Post's financial review today says:
After a morning of active trading over a broad list and at rising prices, the stock market fell into a wave of profit-taking in the afternoon which left the changes on the day decidedly irregular. During the strong phase several new high prices were made, but some of the issues which touched their high prices closed below the last figures of Saturday. Ralls were little changed, but the incline predominated among the industrials with the equipment and motor shares the chief leaders. Ralls continued firm and call money rallied a 4 per cent throughout. Bankers' acceptance and time money showed a slightly easier tone.

Exchange Rates React.
Sharp reactions prevailed in the foreign exchange market on account of an absence of buying orders. Actual sales were not large, but sterling after having lost 1 cent in London, before the opening here, sagged off to 44.15, at which price the net loss on the day amounted to 3 1/2 cents. French francs meanwhile showed a loss of 10 points at 18 1/2 cents, after having been 2 points lower. Similar reactions prevailed throughout the whole continental list, the outstanding exception being the Czechoslovak crown, which advanced to 17 1/2 cents. German marks sold at 8 1/2 cents, a cent below the previous day's level. The reaction in fact was general, extending to the South American countries and India.

Ready explanations may be found for the indisposition to buy the European currencies at the moment. The troubles in the East obviously imply a continuance of the suspension of gold shipments from that quarter, and so, in turn, from London. British Foreign Trade.
The other side of the story is presented monthly by the British foreign trade statistics for February. These show the excess of imports practically to have been wiped out. Imports were 1,000,000 less than in January and totaled only 405,480,000. Exports, on the other hand, amounted to 1,000,000, so that the excess of imports totaled only 405,480,000. Exports, on the other hand, amounted to 1,000,000, so that the excess of imports totaled only 405,480,000. ## Wall Street News and Comment —SPECIAL DAILY—

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, March 13.—Further reaction in the foreign exchange today was not checked until demand sterling had sold down over 2 cents from the Saturday close and over 12 cents from the high of a fortnight ago.
Again the market for the steel shares showed unfavorable earnings reports for 1921. One steel came out with a deficit of $1,153,000. Colorado Fuel and Iron did not do as well as some. Still it had a deficit of $1,153,000. Colorado Fuel and Iron did not do as well as some. Still it had a deficit of $1,153,000.

The Bond Market.

The bond market again today was governed chiefly by the easy money conditions and probably, too, an expectation that these would lead to another reduction in Federal Reserve rates.
There were two features that stood out in the market today. One was the numerous new high records made in foreign Government issues, the other the demand for railway bonds. The latter raised some of the bonds as high as 4 points. Among the foreign bonds, the Argentine 5s, the Government of Switzerland 4s and Norway 5s. French bonds are not hurt by the continued decline in exchange, but the sharp break in sterling brought heavy selling in the United States. Both the 1920 and 1921 bonds were down over a point. The weakness in franc exchange and the 1920 bond, just a point.

C. T. L. U. REINSTATES
GARMENT WORKERSAction Under Protest Follows Decree of Executive Council of A. F. of L.

Recent action of the Central Trades and Labor Union, the governing body of all the trades unions in St. Louis with the exception of the building trades, in unseating delegates from the local branch of the United Garment Workers of America, has been overruled by the Executive Council of the American Federation of Labor, and at yesterday's meeting the central body, under protest, accepted the decree, reserving the right to appeal to the next convention of the American Federation of Labor in June.

President Joseph J. Hauser of the central body characterized the decree as a "bitter pill," but cautioned the delegates, many of whom urged that the decree be ignored, that to refuse to accept it would subject the central body to the danger of summary revocation of its charter.

As has been told, the unseating of the Garment Workers' delegates was the result of a controversy between that union and the local branch of the Journeymen Tailors' Union, which has been carried on since September, 1929, in which the Journeymen Tailors accused the Garment Workers of being a boss-controlled union affiliated with the Master Tailors' Association. The Garment Workers' delegates maintained they had a right to sit in the Central Trades and Labor Union because they had a charter from their international union which is part of the American Federation of Labor. The matter was investigated by a special committee of the central body and the delegates of the United Garment Workers were declared ineligible.

I was so sick that I even went to Hot last I made up my mind to use the Cascade, as you instructed and went along using it for at least one year, since then I have had no use for drugs at all. It is about three years ago that I started, since then I have not spent a cent for drugs, and if I feel it never goes back on me. I would

"Out of Nowhere"

A NEW ROMANCE

By Ruby Ayres

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Olive Hale once said afterward that the most thrilling moment of her life was when she stepped into Ronald Hastings' study in the big house at Park lane and confronted the two men.

Alfred Suture had risen to his feet, he looked pale and nervous; he tried to smile when he saw her, but it was a poor attempt; he would have come forward but for Hastings' forbidding gesture.

Olive was quite mistress of the situation; she was pleasantly conscious of the bond street hat she wore, which Mr. Gawkick had purchased for her; she subsided gracefully into the chair Hastings brought forward; she felt as if she were on the stage.

"I don't say you are very surprised to see me, Mr. Hastings," she said, going straight to the point. "But I really felt that it was a situation that needed dealing with at once, or not at all."

She had prepared that speech as she came along in the taxi; she flattered herself that she had delivered it neatly. She did not look at either; he might not have been in the room for all the notice she took of him.

Hastings still stood leaning against the mantelpiece, but there was a curious alertness about him. He looked as if he were holding himself in check with a great effort.

Olive smoothed a crease in her three and sixpenny white kid gloves; she was wondering what this interview would be worth to her, she knew that Hastings had a reputation for great generosity; she wondered if he would think a hundred pounds out of the way; it would go far toward buying her a suitable trousseau and a present with which to soothe the wounded heart of poor Mr. Green in the ribbon department.

She went on leisurely; she told Hastings the whole story of Violet's life and the finding of the child Ronnie as she knelt in the garden; she told of the paper she had taken from Violet's drawer; when Olive did a thing she did it thoroughly; she did not trouble to shield herself; she did not care what Hastings might think of her; the straightforwardness of Violet loomed like a large and substantial security in the background of her thoughts.

The two men listened to her silently; now and then Suture would have interrupted. He made a violent gesture, or uttered a stifled exclamation, but always was checked by his cousin. Olive told all that had happened that evening. She admitted frankly that she had been listening outside the door of Violet's room for some time before she went in; she said that she was quite sure Violet hated the man she had promised to marry; that she had merely consented to do so because she wanted the child.

"I don't care for kids myself," Olive added nonchalantly, "and I can't understand Violet being so crazy over this boy. He's a nice little chap, but—well, there you are. She's just mad about him. She's lonely, and that's the truth. She thought you were his father all along, and that's the fault of that man," she indicated Suture. "He's a liar," she proceeded calmly, "and he only wants Violet to use as a means of springing on you. I know the sort of man he is. I've met lots of them. Look at him. He cuts a pretty poor figure, doesn't he?"

Suture burst into furious speech, the stammering speech of a coward. He was white to the lips. He looked as if he would have killed Olive. He saw his castles tumbling about his ears. He did not care so much if he lost Violet, but he cared greatly if through that loss, he also lost his hold on his cousin's money bags.

Ronald Hastings had not spoken a word. Olive admired him immensely for his self-control. She thought him the finest looking man she had ever seen. She wished poor old Mr. Gawkick had his fine height and breadth of shoulder. She stifled a sigh.

Hastings looked around at his cousin.

"What have you got to say?" he asked curtly.

Suture shrugged his shoulders. He began to bluster. Finally he began to swear. He realized that he had made a fool of himself. In his heart he cursed Violet. Twice she had upset the plans he had made for his life. He hoped she would die.

Suddenly he remembered Ronnie. He had still got the boy. Whatever they all chose to say or do, he still had the boy and nobody could take him from him. After all, he held the trump card.

The knowledge restored him to his complaisance. He selected a fresh cigarette and lit it with swiftest care.

"Miss Hale has put a very capable spoke in my wheel, I admit," he said lightly. He made her a mock bow. "But she—you both—seem to have forgotten one thing, the child—the cause of all this sensational drama—is still in my possession; also the law is on my side. The law does not separate a father from his child without adequate reason. I admit you have wrested me on a few minor points, but perhaps you will admit that I have won on the chief issue."

"You sound!" For the first time Hastings lost his control. He stood over his cousin with clenched fists. He looked like a furious giant. There were passion sparks in his lazy eyes.

Suture laughed. He felt decidedly nervous, but he had sense enough not to show it.

"As you like," he said carelessly. "I may be a scoundrel, but I think you will find it advisable to keep in with me." He looked at Olive and back again at Hastings.

"I don't want the boy," he went on brutally. "He's a beastly nuisance to me, but I fully intend to keep him unless you can see your way to meet me with regard to him."

Olive rose to her feet. She felt like a heroine in a drama. She wished intensely that poor Mr. Green of the ribbon department could see her now.

Hastings broke the breathless silence.

"What's your price?" he asked.

Suture smiled, showing his white teeth. He spread his hands. "Ah, now we're talking sensibly. Now we shall come to an amicable agreement. Shall we say $10,000?"

The audacious suggestion was followed by a gasp from Olive. She thought of the modest hundred she had scarcely dared hope to secure for herself. In a leap she doubled and trebled it.

Hastings laughed savagely. He pointed to the door.

"Get out," he said.

Suture stared. Then he shrugged his narrow shoulders. He could afford to wait, he told himself. He

Pleasing Anticipations of Summer

Designs by MILDRED LODIEWICK.

By MILDRED LODIEWICK.

To spur our jaded winter spirits come such appetizing colors as tangerine, raspberry, lemon and lime, expressed in the new displays of summer fabrics. And with the anticipation of summer sunshine, we rally forth to select from the fascinating array enough to concoct a whole wardrobe full of lovely clothes. These are the days when sewing in the cozy atmosphere of the home is a fascinating diversion, and when one plays with such delectable colors and textures the result is sure to be enchanting.

Sheer dimities and Swisses cross-hatched and striped with wide or candy stripes, dotted patterns or delicately sprayed ones are youthful, while the crinkles, linens and various sports silks are characterized for practical wear. Whatever the new materials are, however, they are in the spring to all who view them. The present is none too early to begin one's summer clothes, which when the season arrives will give you more satisfaction and pleasure to have on hand than those of any other season.

Before beginning to make up your new materials, or finish buying them, take out from the boxes those frocks you laid away last summer. You, of course, had every intention of making use of them again, and this is the time to look them over and decide what can be done with them.

You will be disillusioned, no doubt, because after a garment is once worn, whether laundered or not and whether of cotton, linen or silk, it yellows; and, too, the slight fade that didn't seem bad to you at the end of a summer will look different now amid fresh materials. The styles also will not seem quite right—the waistlines will not be as long as we are wearing them now, and the skirts will be quite short and will lack the uneven effect about the edge. In some instances these deficiencies might be overcome. You might fix up a frock that was faded about the neck and shoulders with a deep yoke and sleeves of a color, either cream or in a color dyed to match the dress. Such a yoke is incorporated in the design I am offering at the left. And as for lengthening the waistline, a wide ribbon girle draped about the hips, the top edge meeting the waistline, will accomplish the desired effect provided your waistband is not fitted in to the form; and the silhouette from neck to hips is pretty nearly straight.

For the short skirt there are ways such as inserting rows of lace banding, or of fabric or ribbon banding in self or contrasting color. And for achieving the jagged, uneven effect around the edge one might add panels of lace that hang straight, or jab down to drop points. On dress frocks of chiffon or lace such points drop very long almost reaching the ground. Ribbon also in a four or five inch width can be used to form many narrow panels around a skirt, dropping longer than the skirt edge.

Another suggestion for refurbishing a last year's frock is to supply a new and distinctive sleeve. It might be of lace, net or colored fabric which matches the figure or stripe in the frock. The center figure in my sketch introduces a dainty apology for a sleeve in a frock intended for semi-evening occasions or formal affairs.

At many summer resorts this type of frock is donned late in the afternoon and is appropriate for dancing in the evening. Accordian plaited chiffon, indestructible voile or fine French cotton voile forms the main portion of the frock, with lace forming a round yoke that tops the arms. In delightful contrast strands of narrow ribbon drop from the band to be caught at the wrist by a narrow band of the lace. Tiny crystal or colored sparkling beads might be sewn over the lace, and where it is introduced on the girle would prove very effective. Down the front of the skirt the ribbon appears from under the girle to drop in ends that are weighted with knots or bead balls.

As a smart complement to the sport skirt and coat, I am showing a skirt which could be made of one of the novelty creponnes or reps, or of silk. It buttons closely up the front to meet a flat collar of the blouse material, and when the coat is removed presents, as may be seen at the right, a sportive air that is appreciated about a country club veranda.

Rolls for Luncheon

By EMILIE HOFFMAN

Parker House Rolls.

MIX three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons sugar and one teaspoonful salt and pour over two cups scalded milk; when cool add one yeast cake, dissolved in one-fourth cup lukewarm water and four cups of flour. Beat well. When full of bubbles add sufficient flour to knead—probably about two cups—turn out on floured pastry board and knead until dough feels elastic. Return to bowl and let it rise double its bulk. Punch down and let it rise again, roll out to three-quarter inch thickness, cut out with biscuit cutter, crease in the middle with floured knife handle or a lead pencil, brush half with melted butter and fold over other half. Place an inch apart in a greased pan and let rise double their size, then bake in hot oven 15 or 20 minutes.

Fashion News Notes

NEW YORK.—Two unusual types of frock have appeared in an exclusive Fifth avenue shop. One is made of fine, dark blue twill, heavily embroidered on the blouse with dark red. The blouse of twill has an underblouse of blue georgette, over which the twill blouse is set like a bolero, and, being heavier than the georgette, stands out from it an inch or so all the way around the waistline. The edge of this jaunty bolero is picked out with large white beads in two rows. The other frocks is eminently suited to wear at the country club. It is of cream and green woolen goods in a small check and is made very simple, somewhat along the lines of the Peter Thompson sailor dress, except that the collar is small and flat.

PARIS.—The stomacher of medieval days, that heavily decorated plaque upon the front of the gown, has returned. It goes especially well with the medieval sleeves and puffs that characterize the present gowns. One extraordinary and lovely evening frock has a plain gathered skirt of white crepe marocain, of ankle length, bordered with monkey fur. The plain, snug and sleeveless bodice with a modestly rounded neck is embroidered lightly in crimson and a stomacher extending from neck to low waistline is heavily embroidered with a scroll of crimson and finished with three long crimson tassels, tipped with monkey fur.

NEW YORK.—Radium silk and crepe de chine are the undoubted leaders in lingerie for the spring season. Pastel tones seem to be featured in the silk wear more than the deeper tints, although the cotton underwear such as nainsook and batiste comes in more vivid shades and combinations of shades than has been seen in recent years. Bateau necks complete the newer nightgowns. Trimmings show three leading tendencies: toward filet lace, toward valenciennes, and toward plain, stitched and tailored bands. Sky blue is a new tint for underthings, and is often combined with medallions of Irish lace. Nightgowns appear in remarkable shades—even orange and jade—and they are piped giddily in a contrasting tone.

Dr. Amy Kaukonen, the pretty 25-year-old Mayor of Fairport, O., is being flooded with offers of marriage. She admits that her "ideal" must have an income of at least $10,000 a year.

Mrs. Robert L. Gerry not only owns a string of race horses, but is a regular devotee of the sport and never misses an opportunity of attending a race meet.

Suggestions for St. Patrick's Day Party

The colors and symbols for St. Patrick's day with their bright green, white and gold can hardly be resisted.

The table cloth has bright shamrocks and harps, the napkins match, and frilly nut cups are trimmed with harps.

Green crepe paper and shamrocks made of cardboard may be easily converted into a stunning center decoration.

Appropriate favors such as pots of shamrocks, clay pipes and miniature harps may be concealed in the ruffles of the centerpiece.

Color the Keynote of Spring Styles

If you are a lover of color then this is the season made for you to shine to your heart's content.

No longer do you have the experience of approaching a smart dressmaker or milliner with a theory about green being a becoming shade, only to be met with the firm reminder that only black is smart. That sentence is so discouraging a thing for the girls who really love to wear color, and yet they never know when they are to be met by its recurrent utterance.

There is every indication that the season will turn to colors and without any hesitancy. But, be careful not to mix them too daringly. Let each color tell for itself. And, wear always the shade that most becomes your style of beauty.

Yellow and green are favorite shades. They are done very vividly, too, a great deal of the color being used once it has been chosen as a favorite expression.

If you are a little timid about donning colorful clothes too suddenly, then have a bright dress with a dark and inconspicuous coat in which you can hide when you wish to make yourself less conspicuous on the landscape. But the chances are that once you feel the thrill of wearing brilliant tones, you will become more daring by the minute and before you know it you will be deep desire to let every passerby see how beautiful the color really is.

In Turkey the custom of veiling has been modified to the extent that the face may be shown freely to men of the village or of the party with whom the woman may be working or traveling, but when a stranger approaches the veil is drawn.

While they have not refused her request for a license to ride horses, the French jockey club officials are embarrassed by the desire of Miss Fanny Hedy to become a jockey. Miss Hedy has been riding astride for the past eight years and is a very proficient rider, having had experience in exercising race horses.

CHAPTER 85.

Sunday Afternoon in Forest Park.

IT was not until Peggy and Billy were seated in a cozy nook overlooking the bridge path in Forest Park that they spoke of the dance the night before. They had strolled about the park for over an hour and now with tired eyes which had admired the beauty of the many lakes, the trees and shrubbery, which even in winter were fascinating, they looked off into the distance, the long future that lay ahead of them.

Each was silent for a few moments and yet it seemed as if they read each other's thoughts. What would that future be? Was it written in the book of fate that they should marry or were they just good friends who had spent several years of their youth together and were to meet some one else?

The sun was very warm for a winter sun. "Almost hot enough to give you freckles," Peggy giggled as she turned her back to it and tried to coax a squirrel to eat a peanut from her hand. Then, unable to stand the silence any longer, she asked, "What did you think of Bella Minton, Billy? You always said you liked old-fashioned girls, so tell me if she lived up to your ideals."

Billy drew forth his meerschaum pipe, filled it and lighted it before he answered her. Then he looked at Peggy with half closed eyes as he allowed a whimsical, half-hurt little smile to play about his lips.

"Peggy, when I said I admired an old-fashioned girl," he began, "I meant a girl who is old-fashioned at heart, not a girl who just looks old-fashioned. That little Bella Minton is as kittenish and flapperish at heart as any girl living right in the heart of St. Louis."

"I didn't dance with her, Peg, because I admired her, but because—well, because I didn't like that Percy Peterson. I don't see how you can invite a chap like that to your home."

I thought that if I danced with Bella and showed her a bit of attention this would make you jealous. But the modern girl hasn't any of that green stuff in her veins.

"I must confess when I stayed to say good-by to you last night that I expected you to post and send a trifle provoked; instead, when I saw your clear, cool eyes I realized that I had lost a good many dances in favor of Jack Reed and Peterson."

"Then you don't like old-fashioned girls?" persisted Peggy.

"I only like one girl in the world, Peggy Dayton, and you know it," declared Billy, as he pulled at a nearby twig. "And I'd give 10 years of my life if you would say that you only care for one boy in the world."

"I'd give 10 peanuts to that squirrel if he'd tell me whether to marry you or Harrison Townley," laughed Peggy.

"Oh, it isn't divided between us," cynically pointed out Billy. "You mustn't forget Jack Reed and your latest, Percy Peterson."

"Oh, but I don't really like them," and yet they're on your list."

"But they never would be missed," countered Peggy.

"I'm not quite certain about that," grinned Billy as he refilled his pipe and seemed in better humor. "Peggy, I should be heartbroken over you and all your beaux, but we are such a couple of kids that sometimes I see it all as a huge joke. But don't you sometimes feel that you and I—that we are different—that our friendship is permanent, that somehow we couldn't live without each other and that our thoughts and hearts are bound together?"

The sun was a golden glow now, and sinking very fast into a purplish background. Peggy looked into Billy's keen brown eyes and read sincerity, virility, faith and patience.

"I do, Billy dear," she said as they started back to her home.

THE MERRY JOURNEYS OF MARY JANE

How Hungry Henry Stole Mary Jane's Lunch

Hungry Henry had a wonderful appetite—nobody ever had to coax him to eat.

HUNGRY HENRY is a little fat pig that lives out back of the barn at Aunt Susan's house. Hungry had a wonderful appetite. Nobody ever has to coax him to eat.

Well, one day, Mary Jane was going to pick a mess of peas out in the garden, and she thought maybe she better have a nice lunch, in case she got hungry from working so hard.

So she cut two big slices of her Aunt Susan's home-made bread, and put a whole lot of Mary Jane Syrup on them, and put them together, like a sandwich. Then she wrapped them in a paper napkin, and put them on a big rock, right near the fence in the corner of the garden.

Well, it wasn't any time at all before Hungry Henry wandered over to the fence and looked in, to see if Mary Jane might throw him a few peas or something.

Finally he came opposite the stone where Mary Jane's lunch was. He sniffed, and wiggled the end of his nose, and said "oink, oink". Then all of a sudden he grabbed Mary Jane's sandwich, and ate up every crumb. When Mary Jane found out what Henry had done she told him right out he ought to be ashamed of himself. But Henry said "you haven't any right to leave a delicious Mary Jane Syrup sandwich so near the fence, either. So there!"

But Aunt Susan says that "he laughs best that laughs last", and mebbe next time Henry will be sorry he was such a pig?

WHEN THE H. C. OF L. CAME DOWN.

As I heard the tale it had to do with a small community in Texas where the railroad ran through the main street and on either side of the track stood a short order restaurant owned and operated by a colored man.

One night the official bad man of the vicinity came lurching into one of these rival establishments. It immediately was apparent to the apprehensive eye of the proprietor that the visitor was under the influence of strong drink—a circumstance calculated to make him slightly more dangerous than rattlesnakes.

While the uneasy negro made pretense at being glad to see him the bully flopped his long frame into a chair and demanded:

"Nigger, have you got a nice, tender sirloin steak here?"

"Yes, sah."

"All right, then; you cook it fur me and don't you cook it too long else I'll cook you awhile myself. And along with it you better bring me some fried onions and fried potatoes and some celery and a mess of hot biscuits and green peas and roasting ears and pie and coffee and anything else tasty that you've got around this dump. Now, jump before I start jumpin' you."

The black man jumped. In a miraculously short time, considering the magnitude of the order, he staggered in from his cubbyhole of a kitchen at the rear bearing a waiter tray piled high with dishes. He ranged the array of food in a half-moon effect before his patron and then fluttered back a few paces hoping for the best yet dreading the worst.

When the bad man had eaten he leaned back in his chair, drew a spring-back knife out of his pocket, flipped its five-inch blade out with a nudge of his practiced thumb and leisurely picked his teeth with its needlelike point. His caterer watched him as a fascinated bird watches a coiled serpent.

Suddenly he spoke and the negro jumped.

"What sort of a dump does that nigger over across the tracks run?" he asked.

"Oh, Mr. Gatlin, you wouldn't lak dat place a-tall," stated the colored man. "Dat nigger natchelly thinks a fly is somethin' you cooks wid. He ain't sanitations, lak I aims to be."

"Yes," said the bully, "and what's more, he's a robber—he's a regular pirate."

"Is dat so, sah?"

"Well, judge for yourself. Last night I went into that nigger's joint and orders just about what I've had here tonight—maybe a little more, maybe a little less. When I got through I asked him what the damage was and, do you know, that black scoundrel had the gall to ask me for a dollar and a quarter. Of course, I oughter killed him. In fact, I got up intendin' to kill him. But something sort of stayed my hand. All I done to him was just to cut off both his ears with this here frog-sticker and feed 'em to him. By the way, what do I owe you for this mess of vittles?"

"Boss," said the darkey, "I reckon a dime would be ample."

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE INCOME TAX BLANK.

We've figured out our assets
And put them in the bank;
We've written out the facts about
Our money in the bank.
The cash in hand that we command
Is down in black and white.
But still we quail with fears of jail
They probably aren't right.

Arithmetic appalled us.
We could not learn a rule;
It made us sad to have to add
Or multiply in school.
At problems which were set us
We labored all day long.
We tore our hair in dumb despair—
And always got them wrong.

We've studied the directions
The Government supplies,
And only find they strain our mind
And tangle up our eyes.
We read and read them over
Then walk the floor and cuss,
But all in vain; they're just as plain
As so much Greek to us.

We've put down all the income
We think that we have got.
And yet, somehow, it strikes us now
That we've left out a lot.
However, it is finished.
We've laid aside our pen;
We'd rather go to jail we know
Than fill it out again!
